Letter from Petersburg.

Extract from a Letter of an Officer in Front of Petersburg, Dated April 7. [Correspondence of the Union Press.]

* * I have not written before because I supposed that you would get details of the operations from the newspapers.

I have, however, seen some of the newspaper accounts, and do not like them, but think I can give you a better idea myself of our recent movements. I think I wrote you soon after Sheridan arrived here and you soon after Sheridan arrived here, and told you of his starting off ou our right. At that time we imagined he was going to open communication with Sherman. Immediately after the capture of Fort Steadman by the enemy, Sheridan was moved off to the left, supported by the 25th and 6th corps of the Army of the Potomac. Our lines held by the 9th corps, south of the Appointtox, ran southwesterly about in the direction of Dinwlddie. Saturday night we were directed to assault the enemy's works along the whole line. I think it was intended only to hold them to the defense of his works immedithem to the defense of his works immediately opposite Petersburg, and prevent his massing on any one point of our very much extended and weakened lines.

However, Parke assaulted so suddenly and so vigorously that he carried four of the enemy's forts nearest to Petersburg, and in ten uninutes after the assault was made the assault was the enemy's own guns were turned himself. This feat was most beautifully accomplished by a company of the 1st Connecticut Heavy Artillery, Brevet Brigadier General Abbott (Captain H. L. Abbott of the Engineer regulars.) On Sunday morning General Parke sent for our command, as he thought he would not be able to hold these works against the desperate assaults of the enemy. We put in our provisional brigade just as the enemy had succeeded in driving part of the 9th Corps out of Fort Howard, (rebel) and that part of the line opposite Fort Rice and Fort Sedgwick, formerly called Fort Hell.) Fort Sedgwick is salient, and received its original name from the hellish fire it is exposed to. Dur-ing all day Sunday this fort would not have been tenable except for the numerons traverses that cut it up into many small cham-bers. Several officers were killed in this fort during the d by by fragments of mortar shells and by bullets. My horse, standing in the ditch by the gorge, was struck on the foot by a piece of shell. We placed the 15th regiment New York Engineers and about 750 dismounted and mounted cavalry in reserve, behind Fort Rice, and we took our position in this fort with General Parke as soon as the provisional brigade was dis-

About 4 P. M. we could see the shells of the 6th corps (Wright's), away off on our left and evidently much in advance of our own lines, showing that we were steadily swinging round to circle the town. Sheri-dan and Meade we knew nothing about, but felt certain it was all well with them; first, because the torce the enemy showed on our front rendered it certain that he sould only take the defensive on the left. About suudown we anticipated a desperate charge and were all ready for it. Au hour after, all being quiet but the running mus-ketry fire from the rifle-pits, we knew that they had given np all hopes at that point, at least. We felt quite sure that Petersburg would be evacuated during the night, and of course anticipated that Richmond would or course and repared that Richmond would necessarily follow. Gen. B—and several others contended that the enemy would fail back within the defences of Richmond, and I think that Grant would have been pleased back because I to consider the beauty of the content had he done so. It seemed to me, however, that he would be perfectly insaue to put himself in such a mouse-trap. The moment he found that he could not hold both the lines from Petersburg to Richmond and the return as far as Burksville at least he must ter place. The battle theu was to be fought by Grant on our extreme left. During the night, however, we received notice that an attack was expected on the right of Fort Rice, and we were ordered to place the 15th New York Engineers and dismounted cavalry on the line near Fort Haskell. Previously we had ordered them to be ready to advance at 3 A. M., as we exbe ready to advance at 3 A. M., as we expected to find the town evacuated. At 4 A. M. we were in the saddle, and, riding over to General Wilcox's headquarters, found that he had already seut his Indians (Michgan) forward, and they had skirmished into town from the east side. We rode over gan) forward, and they had skirmished into town from the east side. We rode over with about 250 cavalry at our heels, and entered the town just as the rising sun was tinging the east. Our provisional brigade had entered from the south side about as the others entered from the east. We dash the others entered from the east. We dashed through the town and down to the river to examine the bridges. They had all been the second bustible by tar and sulphur that only one bridge, the lower railroad bridge, could be entirely saved. Only two spans of this were injured, and these near the Petersburg shore, where the trestles were low and only 20 feet apart. I think there were five bridges in all.

They had all been to appropriate the says that is the unfortunate necessity of transition epochs, that the best men cannot be got to leave to the new. He has found this to be true. But imperialism is not immortal. Billault and Morny have already gone. Milton wrote the epitaph for them all:

"Seepter and crown concentrate all his strength to save the lat-billy 20 level apart. I think there were hye bridges in all.

We found a number of pontoon boats of curious pattern in the canal, some 60 feet above the level of the river. These boats are about 45 feet long, and of course could not have been intended for land transportaon. I cannot describe the emotions with which we entered and rode through this city. As we first dashed in, Generals Wilcox and Benham leading, with one impulse we all rose in our stirrups and waving our hats fairly yelled with delight.

Doubtless the whole country rejoices, but no one can appreciate the feeling of those who for months and months have watched these spires, have seen comrade after comrade fall in desperate assaults upon the very outer works of the numerous defenses and who at last find themselves, to their own utter astonishment, beyond all these murderous works in the very heart of the

It was not merely the capture of Petersburg-it means much more-it means Richmond! The defeat of Lee's army! The collapse of the great rebellion!

Very shortly after we came in the streets became througed with regiment after regiment. The soldiers behaved with marked propriety. They quietly filed on either side of the streets, and the people, timidly at first but soon with increasing confidence, flocked out, and became engaged in eager conference with our men. Wherever we rode cheer after cheer rent the air; and Grant with his staff soon coming in we joined them and again with him made the tour of all the streets, receiving yells and cheers of delight. By Gen. Graut's desire we sent for the 15th Engineers and set them at work on the bridges which, by the way, were entirely completed before night.

A little later the President arrived and rode over town. When I returned from he bridges to where Gen. Grant had made his temporary headquarters, I found the President seated on the porch of the house near Gen. Grant in high good humor. I remained there until we all left town together.

About 1 o'clock the President left for City Point, bidding us all good bye with great impressiveness. Shortly after his leaving several telegrams arrived, which Captain Parker handed to General Grant unopened. The General opened first one, glanced at it, The General opened first one, gianced at it, and laid it down, took up the second, opened it, and at the first glance sprang to his feet saying, "news! news! gentlemen!" I read the dispatch aloud. It was from Weitzel, and as follows: "I entered Richmond this morning at 8:15. I have taken many guns. The enemy left in great haste. many guns. The eventy left in great haste. They fired the city in two places, but I am making every exertion to subdue the dames. The people received us with euthusiastic demonstrations of joy."

"Come gentlemen," said General Grant, they must be offen, and way he role on the

we must be off;" and away he rode on the cocke road. We left soon after and went Cocke road. back to City Point. It is a little curious that this news was known all over the North, and even was runnored all through our army before Grant or the President

During the day we had of course made attempts to trace Lee's movements, and by Grant's order squads of cavalry were sent across the Appomatox at the enriest prac-lical moment to scout up towards Swift's creek and see if he had retreated on the line to Richmond. I should have mentioned that I had the luck to be fired ou when I went to examine a bridge, from the north side of the river and in consequence parties were sent over to scout out the hidden ras-

There were great numbers of deserters oncealed in the town who did not deliver themselves up however until the next day. From the Mayor of the city I learned that on the previous day Gen. A. P. Hill, in trying to communicate with Lee, who was on the extreme left, had fallen in with two or three of our skirmishers and had ridden up o them and ordered them to surrender then and ordered them to surrender: They "did not see it" however, and, not knowing who he was, replied "No you don't, Johnny!" and shot him, killing him instantly. This gentleman, who seemed to be a very respectable and influential man, be a very respectable and influential mau, assured me that he saw and recogn.zed the body. I have since seen the fact denied in the paper, but cannot but believe it true. [It is true.—ED.]

One fact was developed, however, that Lee was at the Southwest, as I had already supposed. He, doubtless, struck for Burksville Sunday afternoou, and on Mouday Grant and Meade were after him. I think he meant to keep on the south side of the he meant to keep on the south side of the Danville road, bearing southwest, but he found Sherldan on his left flank and in adnorth of Burksville, and to-day was brought to bay in the bend of the Appoinattox, northwest of Amelia Court House. Ingalls and Morgan telegraphed to-day from Burksville that Grant had telegraphed from Amelia Court. I course saying that Meade was in Lee's front and Sheridan on his flank; that the river was supposed to be improved to be improved to the board shall be requisite in making any order for, or authorizing the investment of any stock or securities belonging to the corporation, or the appointment of any stock or securities belonging to the corporation, or the appointment of any stock or securities belonging to the corporation, or the appointment of any stock or securities belonging to the corporation, or the appointment of any stock or securities belonging to the corporation, or the appointment of any order for, or authorizing the investment of any stock or securities belonging to the corporation, or the appointment of any order for, or authorizing the investment of a the river was supposed to be impassable, and, I believe, that he expects him to surrender to-night. If Weitzel had been ordered to follow the north bank of the James.

Lee's army, at the beginning of the battles, was supposed to be something over 60,-000. Seventeen thousand prisoners have already been shipped for this point. The country is said to be filled with stragglers, and when the killed and wounded considered, he cannot have left over 30,000 t the largest estimate. We surround him

But, even if he crosses the Appointtox, his only defensive position is one cut off from all supplies. Thomas and Stoneman are supposed to be in Northwest North Carolina, or approaching to meet Lee's re-treat. Sherman is between Goldsboro and Raleigh, and Hancock in the valley. Lee and the armies of the rebellion in the Atand the armies of the rebellion in the A autic States must soon be overwhelmed!

A curious and magnificent fact is the absolute loss of all spirit of resistance on the part of prisoners. We sent 2,800 from the battle-field, under a guard of forty useu. Yesterday 2,000 came down here under a similar guard, with their own band playthe wharf awaiting shipuneut, and we have innumerable heavy pieces in the various captured works. Their iron-clads and guuoats in the James they destroyed. So cood-bye to the great rebellion! It is jo-osely said here that on Monday Mr. Stantou ordered that every officer counceted with the Departments found sober after 4 P. M., should be cashiered, and every euisted man court martialed ! I am invited to join a party, with ladies included, for Richmond to-morrow—A—, and B—, and C—, who have come directly from New York in their own steamer.

With heartfelt congratulation,

Rebel Generals Captured by Sheridau.

This eminent rebel chieftain, who stood ext to the late Gen. A. P. Hill in the estimation of his commanding General, was born at Washington in 1820. He entered West Point from Virginia, graduated in 1845 with Gen. Thomas; served through the Mexican war; was brevetted Captain for gallantry at Churubusco; fought the In-1847: in 1858 took command of Fort Buchanan in New Mexico, and was superseded in 1859. When the war broke out, he resigned his commission, and was appointed Brigadler General in the provisional rebel army. He commanded the 2d ional rebel army. He commanded the 2d Brigade of Beauregard's army at the first battle of Bull Run, in which engagement he greatly distinguished himself. He was afterward detached for duty in the Shenandoah Valley, and when Stonewall Jackson's command was organized it was assigned to him. It was Gen. Ewell who gave Gen. Banks such a chase from Front Royal Harper's Ferry in the spring of 1862 and o Harper's Ferry in the spring of 1862, and who led the attack against him in the following August, at Cedar Mountain. When Pope fell back from the Rapidan, Ewell pursued him closely, and afterward advanced under Jackson against Harper's Ferry. This division was immediately af-terward engaged in the battle of Antietam, where his distinguished services earned for him promotion to the full grade of Major-General. From that time to the battle of Chancellorsville, May, 1863, he continued to command a large division of Jackson's Corps. When the latter was wounded aud found he must die, he requested that Gen. Ewell should succeed him in command. Lee complied with the request, and Gen. Ewell became the successor of "Stonewal,," and led the famous "Stonewall Brigade" at the battle of Gettysburg, in July, 1863. Gen. Ewell lost a leg in one of the engagements of 1862, and since that time has had to be strapped to the saddle when mounted.

GEN. CUSTIS LEE is a relative of Gen. Robert E. Lee. He has achieved a high reputation in the rebel army, though his name has not been brought prominently into public notice.

GEN. KERSHAW commanded a division under Early during the recent campaign in the Shenandonh Valley. Prior to the battle of Cedar Creek he was sent to Richmond, but was hastily recalled by Early when Sheridan swept down upon that unfortunate General. His return was, however, too late to retrieve the rebel disaster. When Gordon relieved Early and took his troops to the vicinity of Petersburg, Kershaw accompanied hlm.

THE OTHER GENERALS, Burton, Corse and De Barre, are men of no special prominence.

A Titled Pickpocket.

The tradesmen of London have a fashion of trying to get in some way upon their signs the name of some member of the Royal family. A watchmaker sends a fine watch as a present to the Queen, and when it is accepted, out on his front comes a sign, "John Flunkey, Watchmaker to Her Majesty." There are even "Hat-makers to Her Majesty," and it is declared there is somewhere a "Stay-maker to the Prince of Wales!" However this may be, there are several thousands of tradesmen claiming to be connected with Royalty in this manner. The tradesmen of London have a fashion administration thereon in prefereuce to all other persons, and letters of administration shall be granted to the corporation accordingly in the manner prescribed by law in respect to the granting of letters of administration, with the will annexed, and in cases of intestacy.

Sec. 11. And be it further enacted, That in the case of the death of any depositor, whose deposit shall not be held upon any trust created pursuant to the provisions hereinbefore coutained, or where it may prove impossible to execute such trust, it shall be

News of the Day.

Secretary Stanton announces that "after mature consideration" it is resolved to stop all recrulting and drafting in the loyal States, and to lessen utilitary expenditures generally. This indicates the conviction of the Government that the rebellion is practically at an end, and foreshadows the determination to vigorously push the enlist-ment of negroes in the rebel States for the purpose of garrisons and to relieve such white regiments as may be from time to time disbanded. No sudden disbanding of the United States army as a whole need be anticipated. It would be unwise even if practicable. But within a twelvementh, unless unexpected developments intervene, the great part of our army will have returned home, and our utilitary outsile beauterill have been reduced to a establishment will have been reduced to a peace basis, not as before the war, but to such garrisons as are necessary in the new condition of affairs. Doubtless we shall need say two hundred and fifty thousand men for garrisons of forts and strategic pomen for garrisons of forts and strategic po-sitions. It is not probable that we shall ever again be left to the contingency of a sudden uprising of any section. Meantime, the innuense reduction of expenditures will soon place our finances in a first-class con-

The telegraph brings us the full text of the address issued at Richmond by quasi-repentant Virginians to their truant executive and legislature. It is a fair indication that they give up the whole issue, and are anxious at once to resume position as a State subordinate to the nation. EDITORS UNION PRESS.

IS THIS THE RIGHT DAY!

We notice in some of our . Eastern exchanges the statement that the President has made an extraordinary official blunder in naming to-day (the 14th) as the anniversary of the surrender of Sumter to the rebels. They name the 13th as the day. The newspapers are the blunderers in this case. But, as not unfrequently happens in historical records, the two discordant statements have each some basis of fact. The facts in this case are these. The bombardment of Sumter commerced on the 12th of April, 1861, at early dawn, and continued without cessation, according to Major Anderson's official report, for thirty-four hours, until, as he says, "the quarters were entirely burned, the main gates destroyed, the gorge-wall seriously injured, the magazine surrounded by flames, and its door closed from the effects of the heat, four barrels and three cartridges of powder only being available, and no provisions but pork remaining," &c., &c.

On Saturday, the 13th, in the afternoon, ex-Senator Wigfall of Texas, who, in company with hundreds of others, had hied him to that fated city to witness the inauguration of the "feast of blood," having some sense of fair-piay left in his soul, and seeing by the slackened fire of the fort that resistance was maintained from a mere sense of duty or of mllitary pride ou the part of its garrlson, seized a sklff, and on his own responsibility rowed over to the fort. He waved a white handkerchlef on the point of his sword, before one of the embrasures, and was admitted to a parley with Major Anderson. He represented him self as a messenger from Beauregard, charged with the inquiry on what terms Major Anderson would evacuate the fort.

The latter having two days before informed Beauregard that he should be compelled from lack of provisions to evacuate by the 15th, replied that "Geu. B. already knows my terms." (They were that the garrison should retire with their arms, equipments and flag, saluting the latter as they ieft, and be allowed to repair unmoiested on board a U. S. transport.) Mr. Wigfall left, and in his place shortly after came Senator Chestuut and the redoubtable Roger A. Pryor. They were authentic messengers from the rebel commander, and af.er a short consultation it was agreed that Major Anderson should quit the battered fortress the next morning on his own terms So the flag was taken from Sumter and the fort evacuated April 14.

CHANGE IN FOUR YEARS.

We present in another column an editorial from the Cincinnati Commercial of yesterday which is so just and sensible, and withal so significant a symptom of the radical change going ou in the public mind and wili respecting the treatment due colored people, that we are glad to help on its circulation. It is only four years ago that the prince of living orators, albeit an extremist in opinion, was mobbed and silenced in Cinclnuati for expressing sentiments precisely akin to those in this article.

Four years ago, had some man possessing the gift of prophecy foretold that the murderous and thunderous crime in Charleston Harbor would be avenged ere its fourth anwoman by birth, Miss Mary Motley, as was Mme. de Lamartine, and as are Mme. de Montalembert and the wives of many other our brave old banner in the rebel Capital, with the rebel army and Government flying towards chaos before their triumphant advance, such prophet would have been stoned to death or shut up in a lunatic asylum, according to the grade of civilization prevailing around him.

Four years ago, when the North was kindled to a white heat of wrath and patriotism by the audacity of the Charleston conspirators, those who did venture to say with bated breath that slavery uncon-sciously committed suicide in that bold, sciously committed suicide in that bold, amusement. There is something ludicrous and childish in it. Nevertheless, many an bad act, received no little of the popular fury which was roused against traitors. It is not yet four years since the memorable order of a certain unfortunate general was issued, to "put down with an iron hand" any attempt at revolt against rebei rule on Secretary Seward is not yet recovered; the part of slaves in the insurrectionary districts. It is difficult to realize the change. It is worse than folly to ignore it, or conteut ourselves with the shallow thought that it is all mere political stage-trumpery, a party furor that will pass away like the songs and catch-words of a political campaign. The men who inculcate such a notion are miserable charlatans, whose brains have been indurated with partizan heat. The sense of self-preservation, awakened by the presence of danger, controls despotically the volitions and purposes of men.

And the change which commenced as a war measure is of such a nature, and has the writer calls the "radical faction of reached such an extent as to work permathe insurgent States. His unswerving devotion to his as evinced, not only in opposing the rebelion in its incipiency, but his manifestations in many hard fought batties, has gained our confidence. No one doubts his pulriotism. No one doubts his ability to serve us in Congress; he being one among the first lawyers in Louisville. He has been for four years struggling to put down the re-bellion; going where duty called him, with, as it were, his life in his hands. We, the Union men of this county, desire to call him from those arduous duties in the field, and place him in the civil department of the Government, which he, by his labors, has been trying to sustain. We hope Gen. Rousseau will respond to this call and become a candidate, and he will be supported by the Union meu of OLDHAM.

The Colored People and the Celebration.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial.] We take pleasure in publishing the no-tice, which appears in another column, signed by Colonel Harris, Mayor of the city, and marshal of the day we propose to celebrate, calling upon the colored citizens, celebrate, calling upon the colored citizens, who desire to participate in the celebration, to assemble at a designated hour and place, and make ready to join in the procession. The colored people of Cincinnati are a very respectable class of our population. Considering their chances, they have done right well. Their industry, intelligence and good conduct, as a general rule, have won for them the regard of all who are not blinded and sluttlified by prejudices that have their origin, not in any natural antipathy between the white and black races, but in an institution that is perishing as fast as time can move—the institution of fast as time can move—the institution of sale. slavery. And the colored people have another title to our consideration, that we should be the stupidest of all communities in Christendom to overlook; a large por-tion of the army of the United States is composed of colored men. In the battle be-fore Nashville the negro division, under the eye and command of Major General and Richmond. The rebels themselves in their last agonies, called upon the African Hercules for help, and, during the last days of their occupation of Richmond, next to giving their attention to preparations to run away, they were devoting themselves to the negro recruiting service.

The colored people have an especial interest in the crushing down of the rebellion, which was inaugurated to render the servitude of their race perpetual, and has resulted in their freedom. They have been servitude of their freedom. They have been true to the National cause. They have been the best friends of our soldiers in captivity, and have helped thousands of them to escape from rebei dungeons, and have risked their lives and suffered death to help the Yankees. It would be unmanly, we risked their lives and suffered death to help the Yankees. It would be unmanly, we could not afford, to forget or belittle these things now. Let the colored people take their place in the processiou and be treated with the respect to which they are entitled by their good eltizenship and faithfuluess to the cause of the Union. We must weicome all who carry the fiag and keep step to the music of the Union.

Spurgeou.

Oue of the first things that travelers do when they arrive in England, is to go and hear Spurgeon. The general expectation is that they will witness a great deal of buffoonery in the pulpit. But my experience in hearing him is, that whilst there is a great deal said that is not up to the standard of a cultivated taste, there is a great deal that is calculated to impress the class of people who attend his tabernacle. The of people who attend his tabernacle. The crowd is always great. The man is certainly in earnest, and even a cultivated taste may pardon much that is associated with entire earnestness. His ldea of his ministry is to get thoroughly into the minds of the lower classes, (which are here always illiterate classes), the principles of Christianity by familiar illustrations. Just now he is giving in various piaces a lecture and he is giving, in various piaces, a lecture entitled "Caudles," which will illustrate the man and his source of inflinence. He has be-forehim a great array of all kinds of lumina-ries, candies, wax, ad tallow tapers, oil and parafine lamps, &c.; and with these he il-lustrates many texts and parables of Scripon a candlestick, and so on. He has seven candles of various degrees, from the full to that which is almost flickering in the socket. The first represents childhood, with iffe before it; the last, old age near its and and the res; the various degrees of the end, and the rest the various degrees of the "seven ages." With a dark lantern he il-lustrates that there are men who seem to have no religion, but when the bull's eye is turned on pour a flood of light. A lantern with a crack in it illustrates the man in adversity, who lets more light come through by reason of the crack. A half-penny dip, lighted by the side of silver parafine lamp, unlighted, illustrates the humble man, who, doing his best, gives more light than the rich wan without grace.

A wet wick sputtering shows the fault-finding Christian. The effort to light a candle which has the extinguisher ou illustrates the unflammability of the passions on which prayer has placed restraint. Now all this availer mingled attention and and childish in it. Nevertheless, many an unfurnished mind may find in these illustrations food for reflection. You may, however, judge how deeply such a treatment excites the scorn and anathemas of the conventional religionists here, who-eidea of religion is limited to lawn sleeves, affected "intonations," a gold-bound prayerbook, and a lawn-sleeved parson. Mr. Spurgeon has connected with his tabernacia a fine school and gymnasium: he is cie a fine school and gymnasium; he is wholly devoted to his work; and I am quite sure that he is doing a good work.—[London Cor. Cin. Gazette -Important excavations have been made at Bagnoli, near Pozzouli, in the extensive Roman Thermæ or baths, in use during the Roman Empire. The whole of the locali-Roman Empire. The whole of the localities are in perfect preservation, and even the sulphurous springs were discovered which did service to the Romans. Some inscriptions were found referring to the early time of the Roman republic; others, in Latin, from the first century after Christ. None of the Therma at Pompeii are to be compared to those lately discovered at Pozzouli, elther in extent or preservation; the possessor of the bathing establisment at Bagnoli was the fortunate discoverer.

THE DIET OF WORMS.—At a recent exh bition of paintings, a lady and her son were regarding with much interest a pic-ture which the catalogue designated as "Luther at the Diet of Worms." Having blows wasted—blows given with a wild blind energy—discerned at length who and what its true enemy was—found what its true enemy was—found and the table, but where are the worms?" MARRIED.

THE CELEBRATION To-DAY. - Judging from the preparations that have been made the celebration to-day will be in all respects such as should be made in honor of the recent glorious achievements of our armles, The exuberant joy of the people over the downfall of the rebelliou and the prospect of peace certain to be realized in a very short time, will find a fitting expression in such a demonstration as is proposed to be made. The fire department will turn out in a procession, as has already been an-nounced, in which also all who desire to participate are invited to join. The engines will be decorated in an appropriate manner, and will doubtless unake a fine display. We understand that the German Turner Association have beeu making preparations to participate in the celebration, and will turn out. One of the features of the day's celebration will be the turn out of all the wagons of the Quarter-master's Department in a procession, the wagons and horses decorated appropriately with the national colors.

Below is the proclamation of the Mayor, with the route of the procession appended: PROSPECT OF PEACE-PROCESSION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT—FLAG RAISING AT THE COURTHOUSE.

In view of the recent military movements, the capitulation of Gen. Lee with his ariny, the prospect of a speedy peace, and the raising of the "old flag" on Fort Sumter by Gen. Robert Anderson, on Fri-day, the 14th inst., therefore, in order to celebrate the occasion, I have ordered a procession of the Fire Department on that day, and cordially invite the members of the City Council, the city officers, and all other citizeus who choose to join. W. KAYE, Mayor.

ROUTE OF PROCESSION. The procession will form on Jefferson street, the right resting on Sixth, extending eastwardly, and move down Jefferson to Fifteenth street, down Fifteenth to Market, up Market to Eleventh, down Eleventh to Main, up Main to Jackson, out Jackson to Walnut, down Walnut to Preston, out Preston to Chestnut, down Chestunt to Eighth, out Eighth to Broadway, up Broadway to Second, down Second to Walnut, down Walnut to Fourth, down Fourth to Jefferson, and down Jefferson to the place of start-

The procession will form at half past 9 o'clock and move precisely at 10 o'clock, at which time the flag will be raised.

A SOLDIER SHOT AND KILLED ON MAIN STREET.—A soldier named William Cooper, who arrived here night before last among a lot of recruits for the Third Ohio Cavalry, was shot and killed by a guard yesterday morning on Main street, near Sixth. It seems that after the squad arrived at the Barracks Wednesday night, Cooper was found to be missing, and was picked up vesterday morning somewhere on the street by a guard. He had been drinking, and was very noisy and troublesome. When near Sixth street, on Maiu, with the guard, going to the Barracks, Cooper refused to go any further, and the guard found it neessary to try what effect a presented bay-net would have on him. In the act of onet would have on him. In the act of bringing the gun down to a position to use the bayouet the cap hammer caught some-how in his blouse, and the guu was dis-charged, the ball taking effect in Cooper's breast, passing through his left lung, and killing him almost instantly. The body was taken to Barracks No. I, The guard said he had no intention of shooting Cooper.

SHARP BUSINESS .- We have learned something of a transaction in a certain branch of the Government service in this city, which we think should be ventilated. If what is alleged here cannot be substantiated, it is all the better for the party or parties concerned; they will probably soon have an opportunity to clear themselves of the charge, as the matter will be investi-gated. The officer in charge of the particu-lar branch of the Government service, above referred to, has employed nuder him a number of men as mechanics and labor-ers. These men are paid at the end of each week, or should be; being poor men, they require their money as soon as it is due. The officer who employs them always has, should have, the funds in his essession to discharge any claims this sort against the Government. Instead of paying these men, however, when their wages were due in mouey, he has been in the habit of giving them Government vouchers in payment, and directing them to a certain broker's office where the vouchers were bought, and, of course, discounted heavily. In this way these men are cheated out of a good portion of the wages, justly due them for labor, and it seems fair to conclude that the afficer shares the profits of the business. We mention no names now, as the matter will be presented TRAIN THROWN FROM THE THACK GO THE NASHVILLE RAILROAD.—A freight train going to Nashville, laden with mules and cattle, was thrown from the track night before last near Memphis Junction, by the removal of a rail, supposed to have been the work of guerrillas. Five care were badly smashed, and a number of moles and cattle were killed. The engineer was severely injured. The wreck had not been removed from the track yesterday when the regular passenger trains reached that point, and they could not consequently go through. The train for Nashville from this city met the up passenger train at the wreck, and transferred passengers and baggage and returned. The wreck will be removed so as to allow trains to go through

MAYOR'S OFFICE, April 13th, 1865. To T. S. Bell, Edgar Needham, A. J. Ballard and others—Gentlemen: Your communication of this date has just been re-ceived. In reply I beg to say that in view of all the circumstances I do not feel at liberty to make the change you suggest.

While I teel indisposed to do violence in word or thought or deed, to the religious sentiments of any one, yet the facts remain the same. The rebels compelled Major Anderson to lower the flag from Fort Sum-ter, and the President has ordered that the fourth anniversary of that day shall be duly and properly celebrated on the 14th instant, by again planting the old flag on the battered ruins—and he has not made any change in the day appointed. That this anniversary should fall or the day in the day appointed. That this anniversary should fall or the day appointed. ne has not inade any change in the day appointed. That this anniversary should fall on Good Friday may be considered unfortunate; but I trust that all who religiously keep the day as Good Friday, will not allow our procession to disturb their devotions, but on the contrary that they will be more cornestly prove that the more earnestly pray that through the intercession of Him who suffered on that day, peace may once more and speedily be restored to our now distracted land. Very respectfully yours, Wm. KAYE, Mayor.

MILITARY COMMISSION.—The trial of Henry Metcalf was commenced on Wednesday, and has not vet been concluded. There are three charges against him—1st, of being a guerrilla; 2d, of nuurder, and 3d, of vio lating the laws and customs of war. The charge of murder is based on evidence which goes to prove that he killed a diseharged soldier, named Edward Caldwell Shepherdsville, iu January last, and three other persons at different times in Nelson county, Ky. Col. Jno. H. McHenry is counsel for the accused.

The trial of Frauk Mattingly, charged with being a guerrilfa, commenced some time ago, was resumed yesterday. The argument is vet to be heard in his case.

TRAIN DELAYED,-The train ou the Louville railroad, which should have reached Nashville on Tuesday night, did not arrive until eight o'clock Wednesday morning. The delay was owing to an injury done by the rising waters. The recent heavy rains have greatly swollen all the streams along that road, doing considerable damage to bridges and culverts. A culvert three miles, and one eight miles below Elizabethtown, were partly washed away by the high water. At Muldraugh's Hill two laud slides occurred, covering up portions of the track. Trains are now running through all right, however.

To the People of Virginia.—The undersigned, members of the Legislature of Virginia, in councetion with a number of the itizens of the State, whose names are attached to this paper, in view of the evacua-tion of Richmond by the Confederate government and its occupation by the military authorities of the United States, the surrender of the Army of Northern Virginia, and the suspension of the jurisdiction of the civil power of the State, are of the opinion that au immediate meeting of the General Assembly of Virginia is called for by the emergeucies of the situation. WASHINGTON, April 13.-The Richmond Whig, commenting on the address to the people of Virginia, says:
It is understood that this invitation has been put forth in pursuance of the plan of proceeding assented to by President Lincoln. At all events it will be hailed by the coln. At all events it will be halled by the great body of the people of Virginia as the lirst step towards the reinstatement of the Old Dominion in the Umon. It is probable some of the members of the Legislature may decline to come. In every such case the people of the county or districts should select some intelligent and influential man who is willing to take part in this business, and commission him as far as they cau to Several complex questions are to be met at the threshold; but where there is a will there is a way, and whatever the difficulties presented the important business must be undertakeu.

The report concerning the health of Mrs. Seueral Lee is, we learn, entirely without foundation.

After crossing the Appointation the bridges were burned, and before our troops could get over the euemy had taken a position a mile from the river, where they erected works and made a stand in order to allow their wagon trians to get out of the way. Ou this side of the river, just outside the town, a division of cavalry had taken up position, determined to annoy our frout while reconstructing the bridge. Our men advanced and were compelled to fall back on their supports. The rebels soon after retired, being indisposed to await another charge. The loss ou both sides was very light.

Express wagon full of cigars, liquors and they some misunderstanding were allowed to go into Lee's lines. They returned last evening and were to have gone to Richmond on some business connected with the exchange question.

Orders were issued last evening for a movement of the troops now here. The second and sixth corps are to go towards Danville, while the 5th corps will remain to take possession and bring away the property and effects of Lee's army. The trains are running to Burksville.

The 2d corps soon after crossed the river, and pushing on after the enemy, drove them behind their newly built breastworks. Gen. Smith was mortally wounded in leadlng the charge—this was a sad loss to the command, every man feels the loss as a personal one. A more gallant soldler never served his country, and he not only ranked high for bravery on the field, but as a gentieman and a friend he was beloved by all place was almost covered with the enemy's dead, nearly all of them being shot in the head and upper part of the body.

The position was very favorable for them, but our artillery was ingood range on an adjoining hill, and our men charged up the ascent with such impetuosity, that some were bayoneted before they left their light breastworks. The road for miles was strewn with broken wagons, caissons, and strewn with broken wagons, caissons, and baggage of every description, presenting a scene seldom witnessed. On the part of Lee's army the loss on the 6th will sum up about 1,000 killed and wounded. The 6th corps suffered the heaviest. Another letter dated on the evening of the 5th says: Stragglers are found scattered along the line, and as the troops pass they come in and surrender, expressing their de-termination to fight no longer, as they consider the rebellion as good as over.

Four guns were brought in this morning, besides a long train of ambulances, many of them containing wounded, who were placed in hospitals and cared for. Gen. Gordon sent four surgeous through the lines this afternoon, asking that they be allowed to minister to the wants of those left behind on the road. But as all have such help, they will return to the army in the morning. Gen. Hays was relieved from-command of the 2d Division, 2d Corps, yesterday, for tardiness in moving the command in obedience to orders. Another letter dated the 9th says: Not-withstanding the correspondence which yesterday led all to expect a formal surren-der of Lee this morning, the latter exerted his energy to escape from the trap. He marched rapidly all yesterday afternoou and evening, till he ran against Sheridan and evening, till he ran against Sheridan at Appomatiox Court House. A sharp fight ensued, resulting in the capture of a number of prisoners and checking their retreat. The 24th and 5th Corps were close up in support of the cavalry, and during the night took up a strong position across the main road on the south side of the Appomattox, and on the south side of the Appomattox, and on the south side of the Appomattox, and on the south side also cutting them of and on the north side also, cutting them off

From retreat in that way.

Early this morning Sherldan attacked regrously, and for some time a brisk fight ensued. About 9 A. M. a flag of truce appeared in front of his line and was informed that hostilities had been suspended. This was coused by an agreement made by Ord. was caused by an agreement made by Ord consenting to a cessation of firing so as to communicate with Grant, and was done, it is said, without proper authority. General Sheridan's Adjutant General was allowed to come through the rebel column to com municate with Meade, who stated that he knew of no such arrangement, and that he was about to move forward in accordance with his previous intentions.

Lee however sent another mass siring to have an interview with Grant, to arrange the terms of surrender, and Gen Meade was thus obliged to grant a two soon after Gen. Meade's staff, with other officers, rode along the lives of the 2d and 6th corps, and they were greeted with most enthusiastic shouts; men throwing their hats in the air and dancing with joy and the liberty was supported by the control of the co delight. No such scene has ever been witnessed in this army, and the thanks of the whole country are due to the brave boys and their heroic commanders for such a great and glorious result.

It is understood that the men of Lee's army are to be paroled and allowed to return home. They give up everything in their hands, but last night they destroyed large amounts of property in the shape of wagons, carriages, baggage, papers, &c. The number of Lee's force is put down at about 20,000. Very few guns were in their hands, as they abandoned nearly all they did not lose in action. Thirty-eight guns were brought in yesterday and several this morning.

The rank and file of Lee's army are said to be well satisfied to give up the struggle, believing they have no hope of success, but say that if Gen. Lee had refused to surrender they would have stuck to him to the last. The officers are somewhat surly and discontented, but this feeling will soon wear off when they find how liberal and kludly our people are disposed to treat

Another letter from the army, dated April 12, says the final arrangements for the surrender of Lee were completed yes-terday, and to-day they are at liberty to go to their homes or eisewhere as they choose. The terms granted were certainly very liberal. A large number of officers, together with thousands of men of this army, extend dispatisfaction not only at the to their homes or elsewhere as they choose press their dissatisfaction not only at the unprecedented. liberality granted the rebel army, but in the manner which they were paroled and allowed to go their way without our men being permitted to eujoy the results of their long struggle in the passing through our lines struggle in the passing through our lines of Gen. Lee and his officers, and it is not the wish or the desire of our government or commanders to act towards them in any way that would tend to irritate them and make their position more intolerable than it would be. mit, as they always do to what is judged most wise.

During Sunday and Monday large numbers of rebels, as well as some of their officers, made their escape from our lines and scattered to the woods; many, no doubt, intending to go home. Our camps last night were filled with them begging something to eat, which was given freely. These men when asked if they had been paroled, invariably replied "no, but we are allowed to go where we please."

The number of men that Lee claimed to be able to give up was 10,000 with muskets, be able to give up was 10,000 with muskets, with as many more men from the commissert that not more than 8,000 will be found to have surrendered.

The cavalry operating with Lee was also turned over, but only a small force with broken down, horses could be found. It is reported that the best had been picked out and sent to Johnston. The whole number of guns given up was 30, with from 300 to 400 wagons. Very little amminition and no supplies were found.

Commercial Matters in N. York.

NEW YORK, 13.—There was a stronger feeling at the Stock Exchange to-day on railroad shares, with a sudden advance in Illinois Central to-day—the feature of the market. Stock had been heavily oversold, on seller's option, with a prospect of covering contracts on London.

The Stock Exchange at a handsome profit. Market bid upon the other side without obtaining any considerable number of shares; hence, there were awkward corner border state bonds in demand, with an upward tendency. Governments lower. 5-20's have been sold as low as 107.

The Bremeu steamer brought a number of orders to sell without limit. Many Ger-maus holding bonds here sold them. Coal shares all firmer.

The gold market keeps firm and rather better; toward the close there was very lit-tle animation. The supply of money still exceeds the demand.

A new expositor of the prophecles of Scripture has arisen, who finds in them a foreshadowing of the history of the American Union. His paniphlet, published by J. Thompson, of this city, is entitled, "The Thompson, of this city, is entitled, "The American Union shown to be the New Heaven and the New Earth, and its Predicted Restoration to Life within four Years from its Death.' The predictions by the Prophet Daniel, of the fifth dominion of the world, are applied by the author to the American Union. In these predictions and those of Isaiah, the Apostle Peter, and the author of the Apocalypse, he finds the promulgation of the Monroe doctrine, as he argues, clearly foretold. The beast from the bottomless pit is the Southern Confederacy; the slaying of the witnesses is the re-belliou of 1861, and the resurrection of the witnesses he regards as fulfilled in the history of the American Union. All this is elaborately, and not without ingenuity, set forth in the pamphlet, which will doubtless have its interest for those who occupy themselves in the task of interpreting the predictions of the Hebrew seers in such a manner as to apply them to the events of the day.—[N. At least 5,000 of the white people of Richmond are now entirely dependent on the Government and Northern charities for their daily supply of food, and but for these they would starve.

OFFICE OF THE LOUISVILLE UNION PRESS, THURSDAY EVENING, April 13, 1865. There has been but very little activity in the market o-day, and transactions were limited, though we notice a decidedly better feeling for many of the leading articles of import, including coffee and yellow sugar. Produce was to offer further resistance after hearing of lower, owing to increasing receipts of perishable articles. Lee's surrender. The news of the cupture including potators, with a sale on the wharf of 100 built including potatoes, with a sale on the wharf of 100 bbis Peach Biows at $3 50. In other articles there was not much doing, though we notice an increase of the shipments, chiefly cetton and tohacco, and 100 tons of oil cake

The money market is at a stand, and decidedly dul with but very little demand for loans, and less disposi-tion to speculate. Eastern exchange is rather scarce at par buying, and selling at 1/2 premium by the banks veryment stocks are firmer, though not quotably higher, and vonchers are firmer, with a considerable amount of currency received to meet them. The f llowing in reference to vouchers is from the Ciuciunati Gazette o reference to vouchers is from the Ciuciunati Gazette of to-day:

The proposed arrangement for exchanging 7-30 bonds tor vouchers is likely to prove a tailure. Holders of vouchers-old dates—are required to make application at Washington. This being approved the Quartermaster of the department issuing the voucher is authorized to check tor bonds, ou the First National Bauk, Philadelphia, taking up the vouchers upon the issuing of the check. Then upon the tiling of an obligation with approved personal security, not to use the boars for four throm Jay Cooke his 7-3w. * * * We have no doubt the Secretary of the Treasury would, if possible, furnish the money to pay the creditors, who are clamorous for it, and who are suffering for want of it; but, while taking this single view of the care, it may seem unfair to complain, yet there is ground for cersure in the fact that the West has been discriminated against. Tay west have been made at the East up to a recent date, while at the West creditors have been waiting for their money for five months. The whole amount of unpaid requisitions on the latinst was $114,009.40. Nearly the whole of this sidue at the West. This is not far. It is unjust, and we do not this it can be satisfactorily explained. It is also a fact that whire creditors are suffering and bridging over their difficulties by paying 15 to 21 per cent. for money, nillhous of dellars are tying in the depositories—not in sub-treasuries, but In banks. Why is this? Why should a dollar be placed in a bank while creditors are suffered to go without their money?

The gold market is also dull at the 'ollowing quotation from the dispatches received at the Merchants' Exchang from New York. The opening rate was 146% at 10 A. M., and at 11 A. M. it was 146%, and at 3 P. M. 146%. Certificates were 98% to 99-the gold board to be closed to-mor row. The brokers here were quoting at about the follow-lng rates, with but very little disposition to speculate lu
